NEW YORK CUSTOMS AGENTS MAKE BIG WHISKEY SEIZURE

Half Million Dollars Worth of Bottled Goods, Schooner, Van, Two Autos and 24 Men Captured in Short, Bloodless Battle On Bronx Waterfront.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, March 17.—Four thousand cases of imported whiskey valued at $500,000, a two masted schooner, a big moving van, two touring cars and 24 prisoners were seized early today by the special service squad of the customs service in a spectacular raid on an abandoned pier at the foot of East 171st street, the Bronx.

All night long special government agents had patrolled the East river waterfront in a speedy cutter, the Surveyor. No rum smugglers were seen, but while steaming past North Brother Island the government agents noticed the blinking glare of a light on the pier at the foot of Tiffany street. Hugging the shore, the cutter crept in at a point a few blocks from Tiffany street and the agents landed. The light proved to be the headlight of an automobile. In its glare a score of men were working with furious haste carrying contraband whiskey from the schooner to the three motor cars. The dingy old pier was in darkness except for the single light and there was no light at all up on the schooner.

Customs Officer McAdams, with a heavy service pistol in his hand crept up to the lookout and called softly to him to throw up his hands. For answer the man whipped out a revolver, but before he could fire another officer felled him with a blackjack.

Hand to hand fighting broke out in which a number of shots were fired. Five of the captured men were found to have pistols in their possession.

Clearwater, who with A. O. Townsend, appears for the plaintiff, opened the case Thursday afternoon. Amos Van Elton appears for defendant company.

This action is brought to recover damages for breach of contract. Plaintiff had a contract to supply the C. Hildebrandt Dry Dock Company with gasoline tanks for the 116-foot submarine chasers which defendant company built, under contract for the United States government during the war, at their South Rondout plant. After several of the tanks had been built and shipped the contract was cancelled.

The Stevens-Alsworth Company had sublet the contract to another Philadelphia firm which constructed the tanks and shipped them to the defendant firm. FIRST TOW OF SEASON STARTS Cornell Line Tugs Mead and Townsend Left New York City Today With Big Tow for Points as Far North as Coeymans—River About Clear of Ice.

The first big tow of the season left New York city today in charge of the Cornell Line tugs Mead and Townsend and will reach Kingston about Sunday. There are boats in the tow consigned to points all along the river as far north as Coeymans.

Today was a typical March day with a sharp raw wind blowing all day. Out in the Hudson river the wind stirred the water up into choppy waves, but it also assisted in clearing the river off Kingston Point of floating ice which moved on down the river. The ice has been on the move for several days, and the river appears to be nearly clear.

The bricklayers along the river in this vicinity start loading barges for shipment next week when the towing season will be in full swing.

Practically all of the Hudson river ferries between New York and Albany are again operating after many of them being laid up during the months the river was ice-bound.

LITTLE PROMISED BY THE CENTRAL

The conference held in Newburgh on Wednesday afternoon between representatives of the New York Central Railroad Company, and Chambers of Commerce in this vicinity, resulted in promised concessions, but no definite statement as to their character.

The railroaders were Harry Parry, general passenger agent of the entire New York Central system; F. C. Smith, Supt. of transportation; and W. K. McCoy, Supt. of the river division of the West Shore Railroad. L. S. Coe and Clarence Peters of Kingston, represented the local Chamber of Commerce and the mountain association.

Better service on the West Shore road was asked for by all the representatives from this side of the river. The railroad men promised to take a vote among passengers on the trains leaving Newburgh at 10:15 p. m. and about midnight as to which one they desired to have run through to Newburgh.

So far as the other trains on the West Shore road are concerned the schedule of last summer, which was considered the best ever put on the road so far as accommodations and conveniences were concerned, will be duplicated this year. With the fall schedule it will be necessary to revise the train service again and the railroad men and the Chamber of Commerce people will once more meet and talk over the situation.

Limerick, Ireland, March 17.—Violence in which one man was killed and three others wounded, marked the St. Patrick's Day celebration here today.

Large numbers of persons had gathered here from the country district for the celebration. Extra plans had been made for an elaborate observance of the day by supporters of the Irish provisional government.

It was feared however, that violence would break out as feeling has been running very high ever since the rebellious Limerick and Tipperary Brigades of the Irish Republican army assembled here and threatened to make war to set up an Irish Republic.

DEM'S POOH-POOH REP'S RECORD

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Albany, March 17.—Democratic Leaders Walker and Donohue issued a joint statement today reviewing the activities of the 1922 legislature. They declared that "few of the bills passed were worth the time of a village council."

They asserted that the Republican party had staked its all on the hope that its pretended economy will deceive the voters.

"The legislature has done nothing to relieve business depression, unemployment and hard times," said the statement. "It has increased local taxation. It has not repealed or reduced one of the multiple taxes which upset the business world and harass the individual."

"Nothing outside the vaudeville stage could be more amusing than the home rule skit put on by Governor Miller's party, the party responsible for the traction law and the Meyer committee."

"As lately as Monday night, the Republicans publicly buried the home rule amendment and brought to life in its stead a brand new investigating commission. Public indignation, plus emphatic Democratic protest forced them to exhumate the home rule amendment, and pass it to save their faces. Precisely so they passed the reconstruction amendments two years ago and then killed them as soon as the gubernatorial election was over."

ST. PATRICK'S DAY PARADE IN N. Y.

Greatest Celebration Yet Arranged With Erin's Freedom Inspiring Great Enthusiasm—"Fighting 69th" Marches in Full Kit.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, March 17.—With fair cold weather prevailing, the friends of Ireland in New York today staged the greatest St. Patrick's Day celebration in the history of the city. The fact that the Irish aspiration of freedom is an accomplished fact for the first St. Patrick's Day in seven centuries, increased the rejoicing to unbounded limits.

The feature of the day was a monster parade, although this was not scheduled to start until the middle of the afternoon. The place of honor in the parade was given to the old Sixty-ninth Regiment (One Hundred and Sixty-Fifth Infantry). Colonel John J. Phelan, commanding the regiment, said that it would be fully equipped as a fighting unit of the United States army with machine guns, rifles and bayonets.

Religious features of the day included a solemn pontifical Mass in St. Patrick's Cathedral, Archbishop Hayes celebrant, at 11 o'clock. The 69th Regiment attended in a body. This evening there will be a number of dinners and other social affairs, chief of them being the annual gathering of the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick and St. Patrick's Society of Brooklyn.

All ecclesiastical restrictions including the Lenten fast and abstinence were lifted for the day.

Supplies of state cut carrots are limited, the demand moderate and the market generally dull. A carload of muck carrots from western New York in 100 pound bags sold at $2.90 per bag, whereas a carload of said carrots from the same section sold at $2.50.

The potato market shows no improvement. Round white bulk, per 150 pounds, sold at $3.50-$3.75 and in 100 pound bags from $3.00-$3.25. Long Island Green Mountain No. 1 best, sold per 150 pounds at $4.25-$4.50 and a few sales of fancy at $4.75 and $5.00.

The demand was moderate for yellow onions but light for reds which were plentiful. Yellow No. 1, 100 lb. bag $8.25 to $8.50, reds mostly $6.50 to 7.

Arrivals on the New York Central Railroad were 22 cars consisting of 11 cars of apples, 7 of potatoes, 3 of onions and one of carrots. In the various railroad yards in New York city, there were approximately 200 cars of bulk produce on the tracks, of which about 150 were potatoes.

The Introduction of a big Speechless Dinner, which was the form taken by the annual banquet of the Retail Merchants' Association, held Thursday night at the Elks' Club House on Fair street, was characterized by an entertainment whose excellence and variety have seldom been equaled in Kingston, and the 168 merchants, bankers and business men who attended it are enthusiastic over the novelties which took the place of formal speeches.

Preceding the entertainment a resolution protesting against the bills of Senator Walton now before the legislature which would create a right of owners of the Skilypot ferry to collect consequential damages from the state and county by reason of the construction of the Rondout Creek Bridge was put to vote by President W. H. Ruddenham and was adopted, and a protest against the bill, to be presented to Governor Miller and members of the state legislature was signed by 132 of the 168 attending the dinner.

The dinner was faultlessly prepared and served by Tony Kohl and Lewis Maxon. Ulster county turkey and Ulster county capon which formed the substantial part of the meal were served in substantial portions which were appreciated by the banqueters. The food was cooked in the modern baking ovens of the Popular System of Bakeries under the direction of Proprietor M. Morgens and the entire dinner was one of the most delicious ever served to any assemblage in Kingston.

With the exception of the presentation of the resolution protesting against the Skilypot ferry bills by President Ruddenham, there was no formal speaking whatever throughout or after the dinner, and all announcements regarding the program were made by Al. King, whose song hits were interspersed with the other features throughout the program.

The principal feature of the evening's entertainment was the first public demonstration of the Radiophone which has been given in Kingston, the demonstration being presented through the courtesy of Joseph A. McNellis & Company, with Mr. McNellis in personal charge of the apparatus. The radio receiving apparatus was erected on the stage of the large banquet hall and was connected with the aerial located on the roof of McNellis & Company. The apparatus was tuned to connect with the Schenectady sending apparatus, which was put in public operation Wednesday and which is the most powerful radio broadcasting apparatus in the United States.

The Schenectady apparatus on Thursday evening was engaged in making tests with its high powered apparatus by which a program of varied selections was radioed to San Francisco, Florida and Cuba. The tests were entirely successful, and the program broadcasted from Schenectady was heard as clearly as though the artists occupied the banquet hall. The high power of the Schenectady apparatus apparently influenced the radio-waves from other stations of less power whose programs were not heard with the same degree of clearness and satisfaction as from the Schenectady station.

From the singing of "America" by the banqueters at the beginning of the dinner until the close of the entertainment, there was not a dull minute and the program of songs, dialogues and skits furnished a wealth of amusement. Popular songs were sung by the diners throughout the evening, the accompaniment being rendered by Balf's orchestra which furnished excellent music throughout the evening.

Entertainers included Mr. and Mrs. Lou B. Hanley, who are well known stars on the local circuit, who recently purchased a fruit farm at Ulster Park, and who have furnished entertainment to thousands of theatricals and sketches were of a high order. Joe Herdman, a humorist who has been at the Kingston High School, and Miss May Hendricks, a soloist of great ability, were warmly received, as were Dick Cole, baritone, who possesses a wonderful voice of wide range which he knows how to control, and Mr. Knob, a story teller and soloist, who also delighted everyone. Mr. Cole has been engaged to sing during the coming season at Lake Nairne.

The dinner and entertainment were arranged by an entertainment committee of which Raphael Cohen was chairman and hearty congratulations were bestowed on members of the committee for the excellent judgment they had displayed in furnishing novelties whose entertaining features long will be remembered by everyone present.

WHOLESALE COSTS ARE GOING UP

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Washington, March 17.—The high cost of living is coming down very slowly. The retail cost of food was three tenths of one percent lower in February than it was in January, according to figures made public today by the department of labor.

While the retail figures were reaching this point, wholesale prices showed a "distinct upward trend," according to the department's announcement which showed that there was a gain of 2 percent over the level of January. The increase was most pronounced among farm products and foodstuffs.

Some of the more pronounced decreases in retail food prices in February were evaporated milk, fresh milk, oleomargarine, strictly fresh eggs, bread and some canned foods.

BY MEANS OF THE MOVIES.

Will Hays, who has left Mr. Harding's cabinet to advance the art of the movies at a salary of $150,000, said in a recent interview: "You take a little baby three days old, and he squalls and yells and gets all red, and you shake a rattle in front of his nose and he shuts up. Now unless you give the American people amusement—they'll get—no, not exactly that, but you know what I mean." Presumably he means that if the great American baby is not provided with a soothing rattle in movie form, the mind of the restless American public is not occupied with picture shows, there may be some rather startling disturbances such as conservative folk will be loath to witness. But Mr. Hays would seem to mean more than this; apparently he expects the American public from youth up to be taught and guided as well as amused by the movies. For he added: "The day will come and, mind you, is our day—I'm forty-two—when the movies will be as common in the schools as McGuire's Reader."

When that day comes, when the movies have become the guide, philosopher and friend of both youth and age, let us hope their management will be wise, high-minded and non-partisan. For the results that could be obtained by one-sided propaganda are manifestly immeasurable. If Mr. Hays's dream should come true, the very destinies of this country would be in the hands of the movie managers. That Mr. Hays has propaganda of some sort in the back of his mind is not in the least clear from his rather significant remark that England sold the war to her colonies with moving pictures.

GHOSTS AND BEASTS.

The report that a living plesiosaurus has been seen in a lake at the foot of the Andes in far Patagonia recalls Conan Doyle's vigorous tale of adventure among prehistoric animals, "The Lost World," the scene of which was laid in an unexplored region of South America. It is also a reminder that the incredible usually chooses for the scene of its manifestation a point too remote for careful scientific investigation. The survival of a prehistoric animal in a favored region far from the haunts of men is not necessarily incredible, but most people will so regard the "ghost" manifestations in the "haunted house" of a remote section of Nova Scotia, which have of late attracted so much attention.

The reported behavior of the Nova Scotia "ghosts" will recall the "Surrey ghost" performances in a village in the southern part of Georgia forty-odd years ago. It is recalled that inanimate objects in and about the Surrey house seemed to be "possessed," behaving in an astonishing manner. For example, the hands of a clock would suddenly begin to go round very rapidly, keep it up for some little time, and then suddenly stop. Newspaper reporters and others tramping all over the place of course made sure that no human hand operated from behind or beneath the clock. This was before the days of the Society of Psychical Research, but curious investigators went from many distant points to the scene of the disturbance and the New York papers gave much space to the sensation. After some weeks the "manifestations" ceased and public interest died out, but meanwhile no fraudulent human operator of the mysteries was discovered.

"GHOST HUNTING."

Times may change but folks remain the same and the superstitions of our grandfathers believed in are still rampant in this day and age. The latest manifestation of the age old spirit of mankind is the ghost hunting expedition in Canada.

We put ourselves on the back and point to the vast improvements made in the carrying on of the business of the world, and of the modern conveniences of our homes but we forget that there are still millions of us who persist in believing in the existence of spirits.

We patronize the fortune tellers and the mind readers and many of us unhesitatingly place the fullest reliance on what they tell us. In some form of education we have made material advancement, but in many others we are sadly lacking.

Recently in one of our theatres there appeared a mind reading act, and without question a majority of those who attended the performances firmly believed that the "mind reader" was endowed with second sight. Time and again mind reading acts have been exposed and the methods used in performing the trick explained, but still we cling to our old superstitions.

With the marvellous inventions of the past quarter century now in every day use it would seem that we would awake and cast off the age-old spell. Ghost hunting may furnish an enjoyable outing for some, but if we would put as much labor and brains into our every day affairs we would find ourselves much further along the road to success than we are at the present time.

Can You Answer These Questions?

1. How can I feed a pet chameleon? It won't eat anything but flies, and I can not get them in cold weather.

2. How do moths get out of their cocoons?

3. Does a hen hold her tail in a drooping position in the rain?

Answers in Tomorrow's Nature Notes.

cause she does not like wet weather?

Answers in Tomorrow's Nature Notes.

Answers To Previous Questions.

1. What is amber?

Amber is a fossilized gum, deposited ages ago by coniferous trees, somewhat like resinous gums produced by the sap of certain trees. Amber weighs less than ordinary stone, and where deposits of amber have been washed out of the soil and submerged by ocean, they have been caught and carried great distances from their original home. This explains finding lumps of amber on the seashore.

2. Why is the Colorado potato beetle so destructive?

For a variety of reasons. It lays eggs on the potato leaf, each female being capable of 500 eggs. The larvae hatch from these feed on the leaves as do also the adult beetles. Since two generations are produced yearly, and both larvae and adult stage feed on the plant, a long period of destruction is assured. This beetle lacks the check supplied to many insects by birds, as they do not like it to eat.

3. Do birds have bones in their tails like animals?

Yes, for a steering gear. When we think "bird's tail" we should have in mind not merely the tail quills, but the strong frame-work inside the integument or skin. The tail bones are vertebrae joined in one at the tip, to give stiffness; but between the tip and the bones of the back are flexible vertebrae that make a sort of pivot on which the tail can turn.

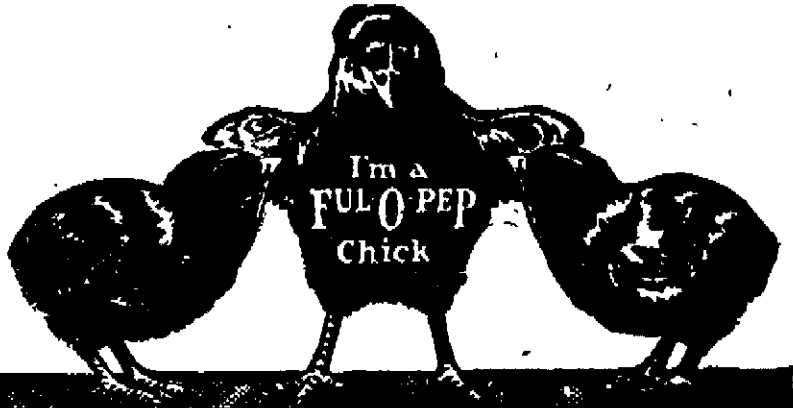

TWENTY AND TEN YEARS AGO.

Death of Charles Weidemann.

Raise 'em The FUL-O-PEP Way

The Ful-O-Pep Way of Feeding chicks has changed the old expensive "grain feeding way" and has proven to poultry raisers that the old method of grain feeding is all wrong. The Ful-O-Pep Way of feeding Gives You 1 Pound of Gain at Cost of 2 Pounds of Feed

Instead of only 1 pound of gain to each 4 pounds of feed, which is the basis of figuring cost of production arrived at by experiment stations covering several years experiments with grain feeding. Why continue to feed this old expensive way when the Ful-O-Pep Way will give you the same gains with only half the feed?

FUL-O-PEP GROWING MASH

Cost Less Per Pounds of Gain Made than Any Other Feed

The Ful-O-Pep Way consists of feeding Ful-O-Pep Growing Mash from the very start—continuously keeping it before your birds all the time. Ful-O-Pep Growing Mash, because of the high feeding value of its Oatmeal, fish and bone contents goes twice as far as grain feeds—every ounce is digested by chicks' delicate digestive organs—there is no waste and when compared with results costs only half as much in pounds of feed consumed as gains in pounds of meat produced. Furthermore, your losses from bowel and digestive troubles that arise from feeding hard indigestible grains, will be very much less and your flock will be of even growth and development. Give the Ful-O-Pep Way a trial this season—it will reduce your feed costs and materially increase your profits.

KINGSTON POST MEETS TONIGHT

The regular meeting of Kingston Post, No. 150, American Legion, will be held this evening at 8 o'clock at the armory.

Dr. A. M. Sutton, general chairman of the coming minstrel revue, will be present and make the first announcement of the plans of the annual affair.

The report of the Veterans' Mountain Camp Committee will be read and arrangements made to raise the sum of $250, which was the local legion post's donation. It has been suggested that a basketball game be arranged in the armory between the Colonial Big Five and the Saugerties team to raise money for the veterans' camp, so a lively clash between these teams may be looked for by the basketball lovers in Kingston.

A social hour after the meeting, to which the American Legion Auxiliary is invited, will be enjoyed. Sam Tinney, the original Scotch comedian, will entertain. Miss Richobono will entertain with her gypsy dance. Mrs. Sam Scudder, Jr., will accompany on the piano and play for the singing of community songs. Refreshments will be served.

REVIEW OF 1922 LEGISLATURE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, March 17.—The session of the 1922 legislature which officially adjourned at noon today, but which really will not end until some time tonight, is the shortest in the history of the state. The final gavel falls nearly a month earlier than usual. Both houses got down to business right from the start instead of devoting several weeks, as has been customary, to the making up of committees and organization. The spirit of economy which has radiated from Governor Miller's entire administrative policy fell upon the legislature as soon as it was convened, with the result that in addition it was one of the most harmonious and business-like sessions in many years.

Not until the last week of the session did any serious controversy develop, and that resulted from a split in the Republican ranks over the Lockwood housing committee bills. All other legislative disputes came from the normal and expected opposition of the Democratic minority to measures carrying out Republican policies. Senator James J. Walker and Assemblyman Charles D. Donohue, the Democratic leaders, vigorously assailed virtually all of the administration measures, but the Republicans contented themselves with exercising their power on roll calls.

Without exception Governor Miller's entire legislative program was successful. Virtually every measure that he recommended in his annual message was passed. The governor retains the undisputed control which he exercised in the first year of his administration.

Five of the important proposals made by the governor were acted upon during the final week. They include water power, child welfare, maternity care, transit, and the state central purchasing board.

The two administration water power bills were sponsored by Senator Robinson. One strengthens the water power act of last year, making more secure the state's control over water power companies to which state licenses are granted; the other appropriates $1,000,000 to enlarge existing state development of water power on the large canal.

The child welfare measure is in the form of a constitutional amendment which gives greater power to counties and local bodies in the care of dependent children and widows. Under the maternity bill the state appropriates $100,000 for prenatal care of mothers and young children. Because of Governor Miller's objection to federal interference with what he considers a purely state function, this measure was substituted for the bill authorizing the state to participate in the Sheppard-Towner federal maternity and infant act.

The transit measure strengthens the New York city transit act of last year, giving the transit commission a voice in the board of control at the uniform traction plan for the Metropolis has been decided upon. Under the governor's bill creating a state central purchasing board, all supplies for state departments and institutions will be bought through one body at standard prices.

Administrative measures which were passed earlier in the session include: Bill carrying out the plan of the New York port authority under which the states of New York and New Jersey will develop the New York harbor and place its transportation facilities on an up-to-date and scientific basis.

Constitutional amendments abolishing the state departments of public works and state engineer, and providing for their consolidation with the state highway department, state architect and department of public buildings.

Bill providing for two representatives from each election district on political committees. This measure is intended to enable women to have the same representation as men in party affairs.

Bill providing for competition in state printing. Under the old law all the printing was done in Albany, awarded under a single contract. Providing that all theater buildings and places for public gatherings come under control of a bureau in the state labor department. This measure was introduced as a result of the Washington motion picture disaster.

The governor's recommendation that an investigation be made of county and local governments so as to prevent extravagance and to bring their administration under the same policy of economy that the state has adopted, will be carried out by the Davenport committee, whose life was extended.

Making it compulsory for all first class cities to have voting machines. This affects only New York city, as Buffalo and Rochester, the other first class cities of the state, already use the machines.

Appropriating $25,000 so that the attorney general can represent the people at all hearings before the public service commission on telephone rate cases.

Because of pledges in the platforms of both the Republican and Democratic parties to give a greater measure of home rule to localities, many home rule measures were introduced. They were all abandoned, however, when the governor announced that he believed more study should be given to the subject by a commission of experts. A measure creating such a commission was offered during the closing days of the session.

All of the important recommendations of the Davenport special tax committee have been put over until next year. The only tax bill passed was of a technical nature, and was corrective rather than proposing any new features. The bill to abolish the personal property tax was abandoned as well as that imposing a four per cent tax on unincorporated business. In place of the latter it was decided to add one-half of one mill to the direct tax rate. The Davenport committee sought to bring about a more equitable distribution of the burdens of taxation, but it was decided that more time was needed for study on the subject. Bonus legislation was the source of many legislative conferences during the session, but the only measure that was favorably acted upon appropriated $1,000,000 for disabled veterans of the world war who have been out of work 14 days. Governor Miller and the legislative leaders would not accede to the demands of the American Legion for a bill to appropriate $30,000,000 out of the state funds for a soldier bonus. They favored a constitutional amendment making it possible to raise the money by issuing bonds, which would require passage by two legislatures and approval of the voters. The governor objected to taking the responsibility for such a large expenditure without a referendum. The soldiers opposed a constitutional amendment on the ground that it would take too long before the money would be available.

The legislature discarded all of the so-called blue sky law bills, which sought to curb swindling brokers and bucket shops by licensing them and requiring that complete information of all stock operations be filed with the secretary of state. In place of these bills an appropriation of $10,000 was given to the attorney general for the enforcement of the Martin law of last year. The enforcement of the Martin law, it was declared, was the most practical way of driving out the security thieves, while the so-called blue sky bill, it was argued, would do more harm than good, and would seriously interfere with legitimate business.

Reformers, uplifters and people with all sorts of theories for the betterment of mankind were given little consideration by the 1922 legislature. Those who flocked to the capitol during the session, might just as well have heeded the governor's admonition that he intended to drive all the "faddists and opportunists off Capitol Hill," and remained at home. Nearly every bill which the reformers and faddists brought to Albany was lost. The Anti-Saloon League tripsters were doomed when dry legislators turned against the bills. The Lord's Day Alliance had to license pool rooms and Canon Chase's bill to abolish jazz and numerous other measures were pigeon-holed almost as soon as they were introduced.

The State Federation of Labor brought an extensive legislative program to Albany at the beginning of the session. The principal measures of which were restoration of the full force of factory inspectors under the labor department, and giving the state insurance fund a monopoly on all workmen's compensation. Neither of these measures were passed, but the labor men succeeded in killing all proposals for anti-strike and industrial relations courts and for the repeal of the railroad pull crew law.

The Meyer committee, which investigated New York city, submitted a long report, but most of its recommendations were turned over to the New York state revision commission, which will report next year. Several recommendations, however, were introduced in the form of bills, one of which placed control of the New York city schools in the hands of an education commission composed of the mayor and the members of the state board of Regents living in New York city. This commission was to appoint the New York city board of education. This measure was abandoned when it was decided to appropriate $5,000 with which the state board of Regents is to conduct an investigation of the school system of all the cities of the state.

In the last week of the session a large number of crime bills were recommended by the district attorneys of the state were passed, together with a series of measures to make automobilism safer and to curb the theft of motor cars. A bill also was passed to increase the tax on motor trucks 50 per cent. Most of the automobile bills were recommended by the Lowman special committee and the state tax commission, however, is to expire for all these houses in 1931. Several other bills correcting defects found in the operation of the rent laws also were introduced, but the most constructive reference to the laws against adulterated milk and oleomargarine. Under the Knight bill savings banks and trust companies were authorized to invest in federal farm loan bonds, but the measure was amended so that money taken from New York state institutions must be spent within this federal reserve district.

Bills were passed, on the recommendation of the Lockwood housing committee, extending the emergency rent laws to February, 1924, and making the period in which the building of tax exempt house can be started and next spring. Instead of this spring. The tax exempt period, however, is to expire for all these houses in 1931. Several other bills correcting defects found in the operation of the rent laws also were introduced, but the most constructive measures of the housing program struck a snag in the last week. These measures include the bill creating the state trade commission to regulate against combinations; to require saving banks and insurance companies to invest 40 per cent of their investable fund in housing; to give the state insurance superintendent greater control over rate making bodies; and compelling prison sentences in case of violation of the anti-strike law.

The total appropriations made by the legislature were kept around $125,000,000 as compared with last year's total of $135,750,278.

FEW MEN TEACHERS IN RURAL SCHOOLS

Five hundred men and almost 8,000 women constitute the teaching force in the 8,400 one-teacher schools of New York state. The men constitute only 5.8 per cent. In the two-teacher schools considered apart, the men constitute 8 per cent of the teaching force. In the all-large schools with three or more teachers in the faculty, however, the men, nearly all of whom are principals, number more than one-half. These statements, from the report of the Committee of 21, pertain only to schools in villages with populations of less than 4,500.

WAYS WITH DRIED FRUITS

The following recipes, the most of them, are unusual ways of serving the common dried fruits:

Puritan Apples.—Cover dried apples, the hard-dried kind, with cold water and let them stand overnight. In the morning drain them and dry in cloth. Place the well-dried fruit in a deep pan with any sweet drippings, cook slowly and when half-cooked add a little molasses and cover the pan so that the apple cooks in the steam until tender.

Snowballs.—Stone one cupful of dates and pass them with one cupful of figs and one cupful of nuts through a meat grinder. Add the grated rind of half an orange, two tablespoonfuls of honey and blend well. Form into small balls and roll in coconut.

Raisin and Tomato Conserve.—Drain all the juice from two cupfuls of solid canned tomatoes. Add to them one-half of a lemon thinly sliced, one-third of a cupful of raisins and one-half pound of sugar. Simmer until thick, then pour into glasses and seal when cold. This conserve may be made any time of the year.

Blood Prunes.—Soak one pound of prunes overnight with water to cover. In the morning simmer them in the same water until tender, adding ten cloves, the rind of one lemon, peeled very thin. When tender drain and add to one cupful of the liquid one cupful each of vinegar and honey. Bring this to the boiling point and simmer the prunes in this for another half hour. Chill and serve.

Luncheon Dessert.—Spread butter wafers with marshmallow cream, place a teaspoonful of pineapple and orange marmalade in the center of each, then pipe a meringue around the edge of the wafer and brown lightly in the oven.

AMATEUR PLUMBERS MAY FACE CHARGE OF MANSLAUGHTER.

Des Moines Nov. 15.

—Two amateurs who attempted to do a job of plumbing without a plumbing permit may have to face a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of Mrs. Lena Huffman about a week ago. Mrs. Huffman was found dead from asphyxiation in a room back of a small store. It is claimed that the two men had run gas pipes through this room in order to connect with a room above. Relatives of Mrs. Huffman claim these men were not plumbers and that they used old, rusty pipe which was not gas proof. They have employed Attorney Volney Ditt to press the charge.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

WIND AND OCEAN

"I have come to call on you," said Mr. Wind to old Mother Ocean. "To lighted to see you," said old Mother Ocean.

"And the Breeze Brothers have come to play with the Waves and with the Breaker Boys. They'd like to take some rides in the Boats of Foam if the Breaker Boys are willing." "They'd be delighted," said old Mother Ocean.

"I just feel like a good old frolic today," said Mr. Wind. "I do too," said old Mother Ocean. "So do we," said the Breaker Boys. "So do we, too," said the Breeze Brothers.

"Then let us all have a frolic," said Mr. Wind. "I've been having a fine old time," he continued. "How I have blown off hats. That has been my chief amusement today. I have blown off several hundred hats, at least—from off several hundred heads."

"That is quite a number, isn't it?" "A fine number," said old Mother Ocean. And then she began to sing:

"Heigh-ho, Mr. Wind doth blow,
He blows with all his might,
He blows the hats from off their heads,
And makes them look a sight!"

And then Mr. Wind began to sing, and this was his song:

"Heigh-ho, I blew and blew,
And had a high old time,
And to all I'd say, 'You, too',
'And would laugh a laugh sublime'."

"You may not know what that means," said Mr. Wind, "but a sublime laugh is a perfect laugh."

"And when I blew off one hat after another you can easily understand how I laughed most happily and most perfectly and most sublimely."

"I well understand," said old Mother Ocean.

"Now," said Mr. Wind, "I think it would be gorgeous if you and I gave a reception and asked many of our friends to come to it and to meet us."

"I knew the Breeze Brothers and the Breaker Boys and the Waves would be glad to have a reception."

"Take Some Rides."

especially when I tell them that they can be just as wild and rough as they want to be."

"Hurrah, hurrah, hurrah!" shouted and roared the Breaker Boys and the Breeze Brothers and the Waves.

"Let's ask King Storm, and every one of the White-Capped Family," began Mr. Wind, "and let's ask everyone of your friends and my friends and the Storm King's friends to come."

"We must be sure to tell them all that they mustn't dress up, but that they must come in their old clothes for we're going to have a frolic at our reception."

There will be no stiff bow-do-you-does, and have-had-a-lovely-time about our party.

"We'll have a rough, wild, angry, glorious frolic."

"And they'll all wear their beautiful old clothes which just do for this kind of a party which we plan to have," said old Mother Ocean.

"They'll wear their wild green costumes with the white trimmings."

"Those costumes can't get hurt. They simply can't. They were made for the roughest and wildest of Ocean parties."

So Mr. Wind and old Mother Ocean called out their invitations, and as they roared and blew all the guests came from near and far, for they could bear the great sounds of the ocean and the wind for a goodly distance.

"Races, high-jumps and noise contests will be taken part in by all," said Mr. Wind as the guests arrived, "and prizes will be given."

"And the Wave that jumps higher than any of the others will get a prize, too."

"Let's all start in at once!"

So Mr. Wind gave his party with the help of Mother Ocean and with the help too, of all their friends. They had a glorious time, and they considered it one of the most successful parties they had ever had.

But the earth people who lived near the ocean said they didn't know when they had seen such a storm!

Meaning of Vice Versa.

"Now, children," said the teacher of the juvenile class, "can any of you tell me the meaning of 'vice versa'?"

"Yes, I can," replied the youngster at the foot of the class.

"Well, Billie, what is it?"

"It's when you sleep with your feet toward the head of the bed," answered Billie triumphantly.

HELPING UNDESIRABLE MEN

Daily evidently had trouble of his own with that "Peanut" who Partner Shook Down.

Two negroes, William Jones and King Agrippa Johnson, living near the District rearing were "peanut" hunting one dark night. A woman had been struck and the dogs were "bored."

Salvation, being the better choice, volunteered to go up and shake down the "peanut," whereupon King Agrippa made ready to catch it in the sack they took along for that purpose.

Instead of an opossum, the dogs had found a wildcat. As Salvation made his way to the nearest branch the animal sprang out further out on the overhanging table, and caught on every nail.

"That's how's dat?" exclaimed Salvation. "Never heard no 'Peanut' talk dat before!"

"So on, Salvation. Ye ain't heard nothin' but de dog. Shake him loose! Ise waitin'!" urged King Agrippa.

Climbing a little further out, Salvation gave the knob a mighty shake and dislodged the wildcat. Suddenly a charge of jells, howls, screams and cries broke loose from below.

"Hey, dar, King Agrippa!" suddenly called down Salvation. "Ye want me ter come down an' help ye 'ol' him?"

"Now, sah," yelled Agrippa. "Ah wants ye 'ol' come down an' help me ter 'uh him alone!"—Judge.

 the history of Germany opened here other crimes. Petersen was leader

MISS VAN WAGONEN TALKED OF BEAUTIFUL HAWAII THURSDAY

In Roudont Presbyterian Church—
 Resided There Five Years.

Miss Louise Van Wagonen of this city, who had been a resident of the Hawaiian Islands for five years and taught in the schools there, gave a very interesting illustrated lecture on beautiful Hawaii in the chapel of the Roudont Presbyterian Church on Thursday evening under the auspices of the Woman's Missionary Society of the church.

Miss Van Wagonen gave a number of interesting experiences on the islands and her lecture was illustrated by a number of beautiful views showing the fruits that are raised on the islands. Some very interesting views of our youngest national park on the islands were shown in this park is the most active volcano, Mauna Loa, and the largest extinct crater, Haleakala.

Miss Van Wagonen's description and the beautiful views shown portrayed vividly why the Hawaiian Islands are known as one of the most beautiful spots on the face of the earth.

During the past winter the ladies of the church have been sewing garments for the Tooker Memorial Hospital in China, and at the close of Miss Van Wagonen's lecture the results of the winter's sewing were displayed and attracted considerable favorable attention from those who had not realized the large amount of work disposed of by the ladies at the weekly Thursday afternoon sewing bees.

RURAL SCHOOL TEACHERS YOUNG ON THE AVERAGE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
 New York, March 17.—"The most serious handicap that the rural child may encounter in his education, as compared with the city child, is to be found in the teaching personnel of the rural schools," says Dr. W.
 C. Bagley of Teachers College,
 Columbia University.

The statement quoted is made in a survey report to the joint committee on rural schools.

The report continues, "This is far from saying that there are no competent teachers in the rural schools.
 It is only to say that rural teachers as a group are more immature, far more inexperienced, less well educated, less well prepared professionally, for their work, and much less well supervised than are city teachers as a group."

GRAPE MARKETING METHODS PROBLEM OF COMMITTEE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Rhodesia, March 17.—Improved methods of marketing the New York state grape crop of approximately 152,000,000 pounds a year will be taken up at a meeting of a committee representing various grape selling cooperative associations at Buffalo, March 28.
Officials of the New York Farm Bureau federation, which is promoting the project, believe the industry can be made much more valuable to the state through better correlation.

NO CONVICTIONS IN HUDSON RAIDS

Seven Cases Dismissed and That Against Cuscio Dropped Thursday—The Case Awaits Beer Analysis—Troopers Still in Charge.
One lone case remains to be settled out of the nine persons summoned before United States Commissioner S. M. Hitchcock, as the result of a spectacular raid by New York and Troy prohibition agents on more than twenty saloons and hotels at Hudson on the night of March 9.
At a hearing before the commissioner in New York city the case of Charles Cuscio was dropped because, although the federal agents swore out a warrant that whiskey had been purchased at the Cuscio saloon, only a quantity of wine was found there on the night of the raid and that was in the kitchen and Cuscio declared it had been purchased for cooking purposes.
The case against Henry Langlois was postponed because the chemical analysis had not been completed of the beer found in his hotel. He is the only person held as a result of the raid. Agents say they found 40 bottles of the beer. Langlois and Cuscio were held on $500 bail each at the first hearing of the Hudson cases before Commissioner Hitchcock on Monday, when nine defendants were brought before him. The other seven, including two women, were dismissed. The seven cases dismissed were those of Edward Dillon, Abe Filer, Albert Brandow, Theodore Brandow, Michael Fitz-Abraid, Miss Ray Church and Mrs. Minnie Volk.

The Hudson raids were the result of an investigation by private detectives employed by Charles Van Dusen, Dr. Sherwood Whitbeck and William Petry who comprise the commission of public safety. The commissioners at the time of the raid declared that they had received many complaints of alleged violations of the dry law and of disorderly houses being open in Hudson.
Federal agents and the state police were called upon by the commission, the raid was carried out and the commission suspended Chief of Police John Cruise, Jr., on charges of neglect of duty. The state police were placed in charge of the police department and are still in charge.

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.

The funeral of Phoebe Ann Bull, wife of Garrett N. Oliver, will be held at the family residence at Marbletown Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The interment will be in the Marbletown cemetery.

Mrs. Mary J. Hinchman died on Thursday at her home in Slighsburg in her 99th year. The funeral and interment will be private. Friends wishing to view the remains may do so Saturday morning between the hours of 10 and 12 at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. Harry Van Vleet, in Slighsburg.

Mrs. Pasqualina Garbarino, widow of the late Giacomo Garbarino, and mother of Mrs. John Gotelli, died at her home, 333 Wall street, Thursday. She was also the mother of the late Joseph Garbarino of 784 Broadway. The funeral will be held from the residence at 3:30 o'clock, Saturday, March 18, thence to St. Joseph's Church where a solemn Mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of her soul. The interment will be in Calvary cemetery, New York city.

Frank C. Risedorf died in St. Luke's Hospital, New York city, early this morning. Mr. Risedorf formerly resided in this city, having conducted a cabinet maker and repair shop on Greenkill avenue near Broadway many years ago. For several years past he lived at Millbrook, N. Y., where he followed his trade of cabinet maker and conducted a business of his own. He was a member of Rondout Lodge, No. 342, F. & A. M., and that lodge will hold a Masonic funeral service in its lodge rooms on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Interment will be made in the Masonic burial plot at Montrose cemetery.

The funeral of Mrs. George Benjamin was held at the home in Phoenixia Thursday afternoon, March 9th. The Knights of Pythias, Odd Fellows and M. E. Ladies Aid which she had been a helpful, earnest member for several years, attended in a body. The Rev. Mr. Stelaren, was in charge and his sermon was one filled with Christ's teaching of the resurrection and the life beyond. He paid tribute to the deceased regarding her faith and trust in him. Poor health prevented her from getting to church or its circles recently and she was missed. She always had a smile and a welcome for all. She is survived by her husband, one brother, Conductor Van DeMark and one sister, Mrs. Ed. Sickler. Beautiful floral pieces spoke of the esteem in which she was held by her large circle of friends. Among the pieces were those of the Ladies Aid, Ladies Club, the Girl's Sewing Class, Fire Company and Lodge Orders. At the close of the service each member of the Aid placed a white rose on the casket. The Aid then formed a line one side the walk, the Lodge members the other and the casket was carried through the lines. The bearers were Mr. Vandemark, Mr. Sickler, J. G. Leopold, Mr. Henson, Mr. Crow and F. Dibble.

Pasqualina Garbarino, widow of the late Jacob Garbarino, died at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. John Gotelli, the well known fruit and produce dealer, at 333 Wall street, Thursday morning, following a few weeks' illness. Although of an advanced age, Mrs. Garbarino was very active and possessed a very cheerful and pleasing disposition, which had won for her a large host of friends. Prior to her removal to Kingston Mrs. Garbarino, with her late husband, was engaged in the fruit and produce business in New York city, being located on Church street for over twenty years. Besides her daughter, with whom she resided, the deceased is survived by one sister, Louise Garbarino, of Waterbury, Conn. She was also the mother of the late Joseph Garbarino of upper Broadway, this city. The funeral will be held from the late residence on Saturday morning at 3:30 o'clock and from St. Joseph's Church at 10 o'clock, where a solemn high Mass of requiem will be sung for the repose of her soul. The arrangements for the interment, which was stated in last evening's Freeman to be held in Calvary cemetery, New York city, have been changed and the interment will be in the Gotelli family plot in St. Mary's cemetery, this city.

GAINS 16 POUNDS
TAKING TANLAC

T. J. McDonnell Says He Is Brimful of New Life and Energy And Feels Better Than He Has in Five Years.

"Yes, sir, I'll go the limit in endorsing Tanlac, for the medicine has built me up from one hundred and eighteen to one hundred and thirty-four pounds in weight and made a new man of me," said Thomas J. McDonnell, 156 State street, Rochester, N. Y.

"I was so broke-down and worn-out before I got Tanlac that I felt weak and exhausted all the time. My appetite was so poor that I could scarcely eat anything, and I had the sharpest kind of pains in the pit of my stomach. I couldn't rest well at night, got up mornings with a dull, heavy feeling, and just had to drive myself in order to keep going.

"But my health picked up right away when I began taking Tanlac, and the medicine now has me in splendid shape. I eat good, sleep good, am brimful of new life and energy, and feel better than I have in five years. In fact I am in the best of health, and believe Tanlac will help anybody who tries it."

Help!

Here is a household hint from a New York paper:

"To rid the pantry shelves of red ants, wipe them with denatured alcohol every few weeks."

But how are we going to make them hold still while we give them an alcohol rub?

The only man who never has spoken a cross word to his wife was born dumb, and even he often makes an impressive gesture.

A Quick Return.

It was a pitiful mistake, an error, sad and grim. I waited for the railway train, the light was low and dim. It came at last, and from a car there stepped a dainty dame, and looking up and down the place, she straight onto me came.

"Oh, Jack!" she cried. "Oh, dear old Jack!" and kissed me as she spoke, then looked again and frightened, cried: "Oh, what a bad mistake!"

I said, "Forgive me madam, for I am not your Jack, and as regards the kiss you gave, I'll straightway give it back."

And since that night I've often stood upon that platform dim, but only once in a man's whole life do such things come to him.

One of the office force just told us of a couple who had been married for twelve years and were still holding hands. Then added, "The man was afraid to let go for fear he would get hurt."

Sad.

I've reached the hold of what's the use

Of self-pity I've a plenty

My cellar hasn't any juice,

And my denjolin is empty.

Ira Hunch

The old things in the universe that will last forever are the human soul and the national debt.

In Flanders Fields.

Host—"Half a minute! I'll give you a light to the gate; it's very dark."

Cheerful Guest—"Don't bother. I can see in the dark. Why, when I was in Flanders—"

Host—"Yes, yes; but you're not in Flanders now—you're in my carnation bed."

Tough Luck.

His horse went dead and his mule went lame; he lost his cows in a poker game; then a cyclone came on a summer's day and blew his house and barn away. An earthquake came when they were alone and swallowed the ground the house was on; the tax collector then came round and charged him for the hole in the ground.

Poem.

As a beauty, I am not a star
There are others more handsome by far.

My face, I don't mind it.
For I am behind it—
The people in front get the jar.

A Sawkiller's Recipe for Home Brew:

Chase a bullfrog for three miles on the Sawkill Road and gather up the hops. To the hops add the following: 10 pounds of tan bark, 15 gallons of shellac and 1 bar of home made soap. Boil this mixture for 36 hours, in one barrel of rain water. Strain through an L. W. W. sock to keep from working. Add one grasshopper to each pint to give it a kick.

Results—Slow music and flowers. If "an revoir" is good-bye in French. Wood alcohol is good-bye in every language.

OUR DAILY PATTERNS.

PREPARING FOR EAGLE ADDITION

Engineers are running lines on the Eagle Hotel property on Main street as a preparatory step to the drafting of plans for the addition which will be built for the accommodation of guests.

As soon as the engineers have completed their surveys, the plans will be prepared and work will not be delayed on the addition which will provide rooming accommodations for the additional guests.

The sale of the Eagle Hotel property to William J. Turck and his plans for enlargement of the hotel by the erection of a big addition, have attracted much attention not only in publications devoted to the hotel business but among visitors to Kingston from all parts of the country.

The long-established reputation of the hotel and the prospect of making it one of the big hotels of the state are receiving favorable comment among travelers and business publications which long have recognized, just as Kingstonians have recognized, the necessity of furnishing bigger hotel accommodations to the thousands of visitors who visit Kingston annually.

MC HENRY GOES TO DEATH BRAVELY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, March 17.—John McHenry, the boyish murderer, who was given a week's time to "prepare his soul for death," was hanged today within sight of the capitol dome.

McHenry went to his death at the end of a hangman's noose smiling and unafraid. He mounted the scaffold unaided, faced the west and plunked into eternity without opening his lips.

The execution, staged under the auspices of the federal government, came only after President Harding had refused to intervene. McHenry was the self confessed murderer of a Washington garage owner and a detective sergeant.

COMMERCIAL

Studebaker rose 1/2 to 102 1/2 and Pierce Arrow was 1/4 higher at 17 1/4. Great Northern was unchanged at 75 and Rock Island showed a gain of 1/4 at 40 1/4.
